

ANGY'S TEA ROOM

APR 1, 2015

BREAKFAST AT MAISON FL, PARIS

I'm still dreaming about Paris and the fact that I have a thousands of pictures to show you doesn't help me at all. So my memories has flown away to my last morning in this magical city when we woke up at Maison FL Paris. There couldn't be a better place to spent our last morning... waking up with this incredible view over the parisian rooftops, say that our suite at the 8th floor had the most breathtaking view it's not to say nothing.

The weather was gloomy and the air was pretty fresh but we decided to have our delicious breakfast at the terrasse. There were a really magical atmosphere, with the silence of a sunday morning interrupted by the chirping of birds and creaking of wooden shutters.

Our suite at Maison FL was in the art deco style, with wooden walls and a lot of light coming from the big windows. All the structure of the hotel is super modern with large open spaces and a lot of light. It was a really cool place to live in, especially for the awesome position close a few minutes by walk to our beautiful lady, Tour Eiffel.

So after our great breakfast we had an hour which we decided to spent just walking in the Camp de Mars and taking thousand of pictures with the Eiffel Tour.

